Keeping your income strong
The objective of income protection is to ensure that, in the event of a disability, you have income replacement coverage that works to maintain your finances and your goals. Even if you have some type of income protection in place, you may still need more, especially if your plan does not cover all your types of income, such as bonuses, commissions, and retirement plan contributions.

The reality: we’re vulnerable
The causes for disabilities are more common than you might think. Common examples of long-term disabilities include:

- Neck and back pain; joint, muscle and tendon disorders; foot, ankle and hand disorders
- Cancer
- Heart and circulatory disorders, strokes
- Physical injuries
